CED Fundamentals for Industry Professionals and Board Members

Do You Know What Skills Will Be Needed to Ensure the Sustainability of CED Organizations During the Current Change Environment?

Hint: Real Estate Development IS NOT the Correct Answer!

However, skills related to the Real Estate and CED Project Development Process are essential! NCACDC is once again offering CED Studies, its premiere foundational skill building experience. For more than 20 years, this intensive, 110-hour course has helped practitioners across North Carolina and the country develop the basic foundational skills necessary to effectuate change in their local communities, while also developing core skills essential to growing sustained CED organizations. As the work of CED evolves to meet today's ever-changing environment, it is more important than ever for you to understand, embrace, and command the foundational principles on which this industry was built and has thrived for the last two decades.

Secure your organization's future; register today for CED Studies 2010!
